City Council Approves Takeover of Renewal

The Seaside City Council, at its last meeting, approved an ordinance which puts the city's urban renewal program in their complete control.

On March 6, when the ordinance goes into effect, the council will approve the role which has been filled for the past 12 years by an appointed commission. That five-member council has now been relegated to an advisory position.

After a brief public hearing the ordinance was approved by Councilmen Gerald McGrath, Pearl Carey and Stephen Ross. The lone dissenting vote came from Mayor Louis Haddad. Councilman Oliver Murrury was absent.

The change was not made to discredit in any way the previous commission. The move was made to make the council more active in a program that affects one-fourth of the city.

Donald Smith, interim city attorney, said that no legal barriers to the changeover have been discovered and the only change in the city's urban renewal program would be in the governing body itself.

In other council action, approval was given to a proposed countywide tax for support of a $1.1 million study of Monterey Bay.

In order to raise the $20,000 proportionate share, the council resolution urged the County Board of Supervisors to levy a tax of 1 cent per $100 of assessed valuation. Whatever else is needed should be taken from the city's general fund.

The study, which has a goal of finding a comprehensive waste water management program for the bay and its tributaries, will be conducted by the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments.

The council also approved a

League of Women Voters Supports Reform of Welfare

The League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula have announced their support of a broad reform of the current welfare system. They will join Leagues across the country in a concerted campaign in Congress and in states and local communities, to achieve League goals.

"A humane and progressive alternative to our present welfare mess is a must item for this country," stated national League of Women Voters President Lucy Wilson Benson.

"The League intends to go all out to see that the current system is replaced by programs meeting the real needs of low income persons - programs that encourage meaningful job opportunities for those who can work and programs that respect the rights and dignity of each recipient."

Monterey Peninsula League members, as part of a national effort involving Leagues throughout the United States, have extensively studied the present welfare programs. The results of this national study call for federal income assistance which adequately meets basic needs for food, clothing and shelter.

Emphasis is placed on realistic financial incentives and on counseling opportunities to help individuals get jobs. Mandatory work requirements will not be supported.

In addition, the League of Women Voters strongly supports simplified eligibility procedures which respect the privacy and rights of all persons receiving benefits. It is important to have both program services and administration as close as possible to the people involved.

The new League position places the organization in the thick of the Congressional battle over welfare reform. There will be no comment, however, on the Nixon administration plans for public assistance programs until the details are more fully spelled out.

The Monterey Peninsula League has had a continuing interest in the welfare system since studying welfare programs at the Monterey County level three years ago. Since that time a number of local League recommendations have either been carried out or are in the process of being considered and implemented.

Another Delay for Recall

For the second time in less than a month, the hearing on an alternative writ of mandate, which requires Seaside City Manager Milton Farrell to accept recall petitions of the Seaside Citizens For Good Government, Incorporated, has been postponed.

Despite objections by Saul Weingarten, attorney for the citizen's group, Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil scheduled a hearing on the writ for February 19.

The reason for the postponement, according to Judge Brazil, was so that he could read an answer and demurrer filed just prior to last week's hearing by interim Seaside city attorney Donald Smith.

Weingarten argued that since the hearing had been postponed once already, another postponement would seriously jeopardize his group's recall movement.

But Smith countered by saying that he had raised substantial evidence in his answer which should be considered in full.

Brazil concurred with Smith.

YAFA Locates Suspect

On February 3, Leroy (Jimmy) Martin, who has been sought by local authorities since the body of Olevette Holmes was found in a shallow ditch near the Chualar Bridge in the Salinas River, walked into the Seaside Police Station shortly after 11 a.m. Martin was accompanied by Mike Panelli, a Salinas Attorney and Jimmy Roy, Program Administrator for YOUNG ADULTS FOR ACTION.

Upon the advice of his attorney, Martin was not allowed to respond to any questions by the news media.

However, Roy was asked how he and his organization became involved, his reply was briefly stated: "This is just another example of how YAFA is trusted and respected by people in the community. They know our function in the community and when help is needed, regardless to the magnitude, YAFA is called upon."

After extended interrogation, Martin, Panelli and Roy departed from the Police Station.

POST Hosts Party For The Kids

A fun-time, pound and paste party for children pre-school age to third grade will be held Saturday, February 20 at the office of the POST, 510 Broadway.

All those interested in helping to plan such future cultural activities for our youngsters are invited to attend.

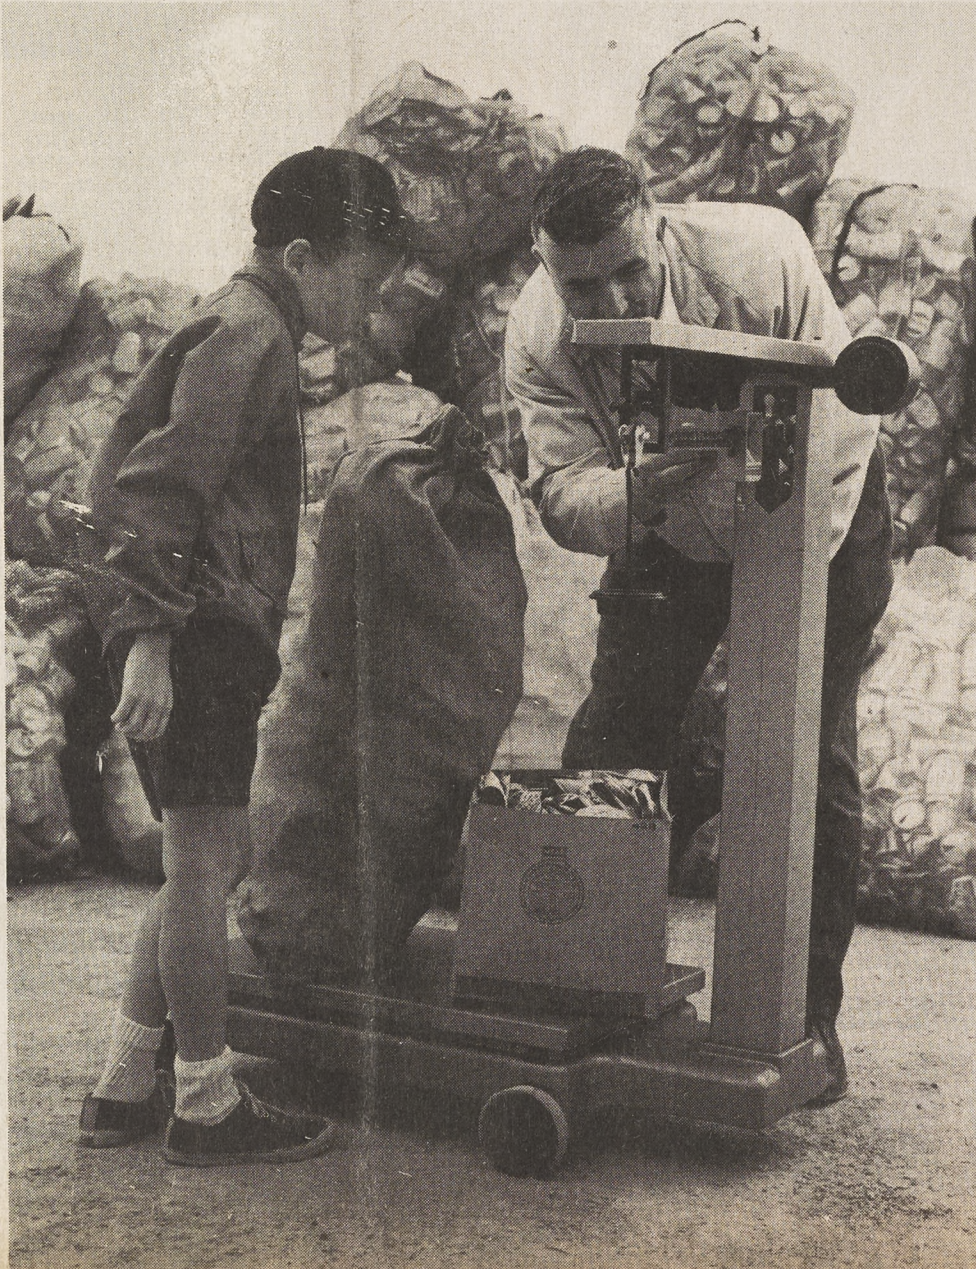

Paste and paint will be provided, so bring your youngster in his play clothes and let him paste and pound to his heart's content.

Supervised care will also be provided so that you can safely leave your children while the show is on.

Cookies for the children have been donated by Norris Gilmore, manager of the Safeway store in Seaside.

Remember, that's next Saturday, February 20, at the office of The POST, 510 Broadway, from 9 a.m. until noon.

Drive on for Hemo-Dialysis Machine Here

The Gonzales Young Homemakers are currently spearheading a drive to collect enough General Mills coupons to obtain a Hemo-Dialysis machine for Monterey County.

A letter is being sent out to service and school organizations as a plea for help in what they are hopeful will become a county-wide project. Monterey County is in dire need of a hemo-dialysis machine. Approximately fifteen residents are alive today only because of the availability of one.

This machine was invented for people who are suffering from kidney failure, making it impossible for these patients to receive three 8-hour treatments per week. They must travel to San Francisco for the vital treatments since this is the location of the closest unit. Thus, the Young Homemakers feel the tremendous need to aid these people by obtaining for them a hemo-dialysis machine.

Recently it was learned that it is possible to purchase a hemo-dialysis machine through the redemption of 800,000 General Mills coupons. These coupons may be found on all General Mills products, such as cereals, flour, cake, frosting and pudding mixes and other related items.

As of May 1, 1971 General Mills feels they must give up this worthwhile project because they have been accused of "cashing in on somebody's sickness."

However, the Gonzales chapter believes that with the cooperation of the many organizations in Monterey County they should be able to obtain the necessary 800,000 coupons prior to May 1st. This would not involve donating money.

Help is wanted in obtaining

Fr. Miner Returns

Fr. Miner was vicar of the local Episcopal congregation from 1963-1967.

Now resident of Anchorage, Alaska and an executive with Community Chest Fr. Miner will be on the peninsula visiting family and friends.

Black History Week is being celebrated through February 15 at Monterey Peninsula College with a series of public events, according to James Taylor, chairman of MPC's ethnic studies division.

Today and tomorrow, films on "the black man's contributions and history in America" will be shown at noon in the library lecture hall on campus. The public is invited to attend the screenings without charge.

Friday evening, the Peninsula chapter of WILP (Women's International League for Peace) will present a film on the United States court system and "the so-called brothers" at 7:30 p.m. in MPC Lecture - Forum 103.

Culmination of Black History Week at MPC will be the appearance of the famed Count Basie and his orchestra Monday, February 15 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Moderately priced tickets for the concert and dance are available at the community services office, Abinante's Music Store, the Naval Postgraduate School recreation office and in Salinas at Hartnell College and Gadsby's. They will also be sold at the door.

The idea of Black History Week, formerly known as Negro History Week, was contributed by the late Carter G. Woodson, who was also founder, in 1915, of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

PTA Program Will Discuss Minorities

"The Empty Chair," a program dealing with minority groups and the schools, is scheduled for the 20th District PTA meeting on Tuesday, February 16, in Monterey.

Special speaker will be Dr. Carl Brizzolara, former principal of Los Angeles County Juvenile Hall, and present principal-counselor of Mount Toro High School.

The luncheon meeting will be held at the Dutch Motor Lodge at 10 a.m., preceded by registration at 9:30. Reservations are due tomorrow (Friday) noon, to Mrs. Elsworth Amos, 372-5129.

Negro History Week Is Proclaimed

WHEREAS, the emergence of the continent of Africa into a significant role in world affairs serves to emphasize the critical need for a better understanding of Afro-American people, their history and their contributions to world civilization; and

WHEREAS, the history of the United States is filled with examples of the loyalty and devotion of its Afro-American citizens, and of their artistic, inventive and cultural contributions to the growth and development of the world's greatest free nation; and

WHEREAS, a wider knowledge of these contributions by all citizens will contribute greatly to interracial understanding, elimination of myths and prejudices, and the furthering of human rights, both in Seaside and throughout the nation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Louis N. Haddad, Mayor of the City of Seaside, do hereby proclaim the week of February 7-13, 1971 as "NEGRO HISTORY WEEK" and urge the citizens of Seaside, through their schools, churches, libraries, radio-television, museums, service clubs, organizations and public forums to seek a wider knowledge of the many contributions to our culture made by Afro-Americans.

Cigarette Tax Is Distributed

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced the distribution of $6,722,867 to counties and cities as the January apportionment of cigarette tax.

Monterey County received $9,570 and Seaside got $9,558. The 58 counties' share was $1,310,083 and the cities share totaled $5,412,784.

This distribution represents 30 percent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of December 1970, less the State's administrative costs of $23,163. Other Peninsula cities receiving money were: Pacific Grove $3,719.78; Carmel $3,265.21; Del Rey Oaks $790.60; Monterey $13,213.94 and Sand city $263.34.

Faces Around the Bay

FAMILIAR FACE around the Bay is that of Verna Sloan. Verna, who first came to Peninsula in 1955, has been employed by Department of Army for 16 years. She is Supervisory Accounting Technician for the Finance and Accounting Division and also an Equal Employment Opportunity Counselor for Fort Ord. Verna found time in her busy schedule to fill unexpired term of Secretary for Monterey Branch of the NAACP last year. Verna's husband, Robert is retired Army Sergeant and congenial manager of Terrace Liquors. They are the parents of a married son, Joseph, who now lives in Oakland.

Publisher's Report Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

Every once in a while, a breath of fresh air comes blowing in the breeze to give us new hope for Humanity. That breath of fresh air this week was the proposal made at the last Seaside City Council meeting by the Human Relations Commission, headed by Sherman Smith.

The commission has been concerned lately with the divisiveness of the various recall movements and has voiced some fears that the recall movements had taken on some overtones of racism, that blacks were being pitted against whites. None of this appears in the statements of the various protagonists, but in the whispered backroom rumor-monger style there have been some pretty big lies bandied about. The commission was directed by the council to set dates for meetings at which time residents may be informed "about the functions of city government and the views of council members."

Chairman Smith told the council about the feelings of "unrest and insecurity" among the citizens because of the repeated recall moves. We have for a long time felt that it was possible for the entire city council and the mayor to reconcile their differences in philosophy if they were allowed to discuss of irrelevant matters. That is just exactly what the commission resolution suggested to the council. The resolution further says, "Hopefully the forums can recreate a climate of peace and good order within the city." Let's keep the breeze blowing with that good clean fresh air.

New Venture At Fremont Junior High

Fremont Junior High School, 1060 Kimball Avenue, Seaside, will be embarking on a new venture in communications February 16 through 22 so as to bring home and school closer together to mutual advantage and for best interests of students.

Cedric S. Jasper, principal at Fremont, said that one of the most effective ways to have greater communication between home and school has been the traditional parent-teacher conference regularly held by individual appointment at all elementary schools in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District. These have not before been tried at a secondary school of the area because of the difficulty in scheduling.

"It's comparatively easy to ask parents to come to their child's classroom to confer with only one teacher," Jasper said, "but when a student has six different teachers there is a problem."

Hopefully, this predicament has been overcome at Fremont. A complex appointment schedule has been devised to accommodate parents of all 911 students, so that parents may see all of their child's teachers in rapid sequence. Jasper said it is better if both parents can come.

Minimum school days, from 8:40 a. m. to 1:25 p. m., will be held at Fremont School Wednesday, February 17, Friday, February 19 and Monday, February 22 to free teachers for afternoon appointments between 1:30 and 3:45 p. m.

MPC Needs Accounting Assistant

Applications are being taken now at Monterey Peninsula College for an opening for an accounting assistant.

Applicants must have had at least two years of increasingly responsible experience in the maintenance of financial and statistical records or equivalent qualification.

A knowledge of methods and practices of financial record-keeping, bookkeeping and office procedures is essential, plus the ability to make arithmetical calculations with speed and accuracy and operate such office appliances as adding and calculating machines and the typewriter.

Starting salary is $567 monthly and there are such fringe benefits as fully paid Blue Cross insurance, dental insurance, life insurance and income protection. MPC is an equal opportunity employer.

Interested persons may contact Mrs. Judy Pattengale in Room T-3 on campus.

planned for convenience of parents who work, Tuesday, February 16 and Thursday, February 18, between 7 and 9 o'clock. Each homeroom teacher will have five parent conferences a day.

Appointment sheets are being sent each parent by the students homeroom teacher, with a confirmation slip to be returned.

As parents arrive they will be given name tags and directed to the seventh, eighth or ninth grade wings and to the student's homeroom for the first 15-minute conference.

With help from a school counselor stationed in the corridor they then proceed to a nearby classroom for conference with another teacher. Chairs will be lined up by each door so parents can be comfortable during the short waits which may occur before each private conference.

People may be somewhat uneasy as to what is expected of him or her in a teacher-parent conference. Some parents may avoid the conference if uncertain about their roles. Teachers too may be wary, especially if they never have had the experience teaching in an elementary school.

Jasper said the conference is merely an opportunity for teachers and parents to discuss their mutual interest: the student.

Jasper itemized things teachers could think about in relation to each child, the better to talk with parents. These include details of the student's work and study habits, use of time, degree of responsibility and for each area of instruction specifics as to how the child is mastering the subject matter.

He also drew up guidelines for teachers which begin with the suggestion to have a folder of each student's work to show or give parents, to consider parents guests in class as they would be guests in a home, to comment on the pupil's particular strengths and weaknesses in academic work and as individual personalities.

There will be no attempt to pry into personal or family matters, but merely effort to come to mutual understanding about how home and school can work together on behalf of the student. Teachers should be prepared to answer questions parents want to know. These may be about school or school district rules and policies, the grading system, how the child gets along in school with other students and with staff, discipline, class progress. If teachers cannot answer any questions asked by parents they are to find answers and report back later.

Nursery Has New President

Mothers of the Peninsula Parent Nursery School have elected Mrs. Peter Tarantino as their new president.

Other members who will be assuming office are: Mrs. Richard Catron, vice president, Mrs. Roger Kishimoto, secretary and Mrs. James Mendenhall, treasurer.

Mrs. Tarantino designated the following members to assist her on the Executive Board: Mrs. Robert Stephenson, membership; Mrs. John Nightengale, art; Mrs. James Clark, outdoor equipment; Mrs. John Russo, indoor equipment; Mrs. Leroy Adams, health; Mrs. Larry Dufur and Mrs. Dave Ethridge, scheduling and Mrs. Richard Earnest, public relations.

Located at Ord Terrace School, 1755 La Salle Avenue, Seaside, the Peninsula Parent Nursery School is interracial, non-sectarian, and parent-participating. As a unit of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, it offers young children a stimulating pre-school environment and it offers to parents the unique and exciting opportunity to take part in their child's learning by assisting the professional director and attending business and instructional meetings.

The cooperative nursery requires an investment of time rather than money and the tuition is lower than that of a private nursery school.

Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Robert Stephenson, membership chairman, 384-9232 or Mrs. Joseph Russell, director, 394-8736.

Are You Operating Your Business Under A Fictitious Name?

If So You Must Re-Register it Now!

See News Article Below

New Law in effect:

A prediction that 300,000 firms doing business in California under fictitious trade names will re-file under the new fictitious firm name law was made this week by William G. Sharp, county clerk of Los Angeles County. Sharp is chairman of a committee of county clerks which has been preparing procedures for the new statute.

The new requirement for re-filing of all firm names goes into effect July 1, 1971, but Sharp said the filings will be accepted by the county clerk's offices beginning Monday, and he urged early filing in order to avoid the rush just before the July 1 deadline. The filing fee under the new law will be $10. Filings must be renewed hereafter at five year intervals.

The Los Angeles county clerk also pointed out that the historic publication requirement has been continued under the new law and that publication of the statement once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the neighborhood of the affected business is required whenever there has been any change in the information contained in the certificate previously filed. Publication will not be required in instances where there has been no change in the information carried in the old certificate.

A fictitious name, Sharp pointed out, is one that does not include the surname of the operator or one that implies the existence of other owners; or, if a corporation, if it includes a name other than the name given in the articles of incorporation.

The purpose of the fictitious business name procedure is to protect the consumer in enabling him to find out the person with whom he is really dealing, Sharp said. If he has been defrauded by the "John Doe Television and Time Clock Repair Shop" and the shop is really owned and operated by "Richard Roe" or the "East Ganawanda Land and Farming Corporation," the consumer can find in the fictitious name statement information for bringing suit for damages. The procedure provides a ready source of information concerning identity realities obscured by fictitious business or trade names. Most banks now require evidence that the fictitious filing and publication requirements have been met before they will open an account under a fictitious name.

The office of each county clerk will furnish forms required by the new law or information and forms from this newspaper.

Business Must Adapt to New World

The United States has entered a period of "fundamental transition... of historic proportions" and the business enterprise must take vigorous action to adapt to these new economic and social realities, Bank America Corporation has declared in its 1970 Annual Report.

The one-bank holding company, which has Bank of America NT & SA, the world's largest commercial bank, as its principal asset, warned that "any corporation, and certainly any bank, must include in its own balance sheet some recognition of the state of the health of the community it serves."

In an expanded version of a normal annual report (this year's text is nearly double the length of those of recent years) BankAmerica's management summarizes the principles it will use to guide its long-range policies during the decade ahead and then itemizes how it has implemented them in the year just concluded.

Nearly half of the 6,300-word text is devoted to a comprehensive discussion of corporate responsibility in a changing environment. "In the period ahead, how well a corporation develops and deals with people--and how it devises the adaptability to meet change-- will become increasingly important in evaluating its future," the report states. "We expect to include such factors in our assessment of the potential performance of other companies, and we expect to be judged on the basis of such factors in the conduct of our own business."

While noting the profits must remain an essential concern for responsible corporate enterprise, the report warned that "in the long pull, nobody can expect to make profits--or have any meaningful use for profits--if our entire society is wracked by tension." The most critical issues facing the nation in the years ahead, according to the report, are environment, inflation, cost of government, housing and basic science.

Reflecting the bank's concern with ecological problems, the report discloses that Bank of America revised its lending policies in August to give special consideration to credit applications which would improve or protect the environment.

The report also notes that, in positioning itself to meet social problems, the bank dealt from a position of strength as deposits, resources and earnings reached record highs.

The 40-page report itself was printed on paper 100 percent re-cycled from waste material. The amount of paper used would be equivalent to between 600 and 1,000 trees.

Monterey CC Represented At Meeting

The Monterey Peninsula was represented at the California Chamber of Commerce Annual Meeting in San Francisco of January 20 and 21.

Donald Otergard, president and Sherrel Watson, executive vice president of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce were in attendance. This 43rd Annual Meeting of the state-wide organization was held at the San Francisco Hilton.

A session on legislative affairs was held on Wednesday afternoon with eight staff members of the California Chamber explaining their legislative roles and the important issues which will be before the State Legislature this session. A Panel of Managers of three local Chambers of Commerce explained how their organization maintained a liaison with the state government in Sacramento.

Ernest J. Loebbecke, was honored as retiring president of the California Chamber. He had served two terms. Burnham Enersen, of the law firm of Cutchen, Brown, Doyle and Enerson, was installed as the new president. John Hay is continuing as executive vice president.

James J. Kilpatrick, journalist and author from Washington, D. C., was the keynote speaker on Thursday morning.

Governor Ronald Reagan's six Cabinet Members, Edwin Meese III, Executive Secretary to the Governor; Earl Coke, Agriculture and Services Agency; Brian Van Camp, Business and Transportation Agency; Norman Livermore, Jr., Resources Agency; Verne Orr, Director of Finance and James Hall, Human Relations Agency, explained the administration's legislative and administrative program.

James Roche, Chairman of the Board of General Motors Corporation was the speaker at the noon luncheon. During the afternoon there were forum meetings on Public Affairs; Resources; Tax and Industry; Insurance & Welfare; Economic Development & Agriculture; Education; and Transportation.

Seaside Ripples

Governor Reagan, with his 10 percent cutback in Medi-Cal services, has once again shown the lack of any real concern for those people on the bottom of the economic ladder least able to pay. It has been shown again and again that the overwhelming majority of the Medi-Cal patients are those too old to work or those who are on limited incomes.

This crass disregard for the wellbeing of old folks and for the poor is a part of our human nature that I find impossible to understand. People like Reagan and Nixon and all of our congressmen and legislators are not near men. I know that they would help any old lady or blind man across the street at any time, yet what happens to their compassion when they have to weigh it against the argument of the taxpayers Association and the lawyers of the large corporations, who cry that if we don't cut down on welfare spending they will have their taxes raised.

What they really mean is that they will have their profits cut. Why do the cuts in the state budget always have to hit the poor and the schools and colleges? Why did the big oil corporations put millions of dollars into the fight to prevent some of their sacred gas tax money being used to provide better rapid-transportation for the ordinary man? Because if a man used a street car or train to get to work and back, he might not buy as much gasoline that week. That's why and then the gasoline company wouldn't make so much profit for the stockholders that week either, in that is the only reason why.

Reagan's further disregard for the poor was illustrated when he vetoed the funds for The California Rural Legal Aid. His ego was more important than his concern for the rural poor and their only recourse to justice in our court system. Just because some of the cases that the CRLA handled went against some of Reagan's unfair rulings in regard to welfare, he vetoed their appropriation which the federal government provides anyway and wants to substitute a private legal aid system which would take us back to the thirties. This would mean that anyone too poor to afford a lawyer is just out of luck. No, Governor, I don't think that you are going to get away with either your cut in Medi-Cal or your veto of the legal aid to the poor. I think that a Higher Justice will prevail.

After writing the above I glanced through Kahlil Gibran's "The voice of the Master" and found the following which I thought covered the subject.

OF THE MARTYRS TO MAN'S LAW

"Are you one who was born in the cradle of sorrow, and reared in the lap of misfortune and in the house of oppression? Are you eating a dry crust, moistened with tears? Are you drinking the turbid water in which are mingled blood and tears?"

Are you a soldier compelled by the harsh law of man to forsake wife and children, and go forth in the field of battle for the sake of 'Greed' which your leaders mis-call 'Duty'?

Are you a poet content with your crumbs of life, happy in the possession of parchment and ink, and sojourning in your land as a stranger, unknown to your fellow man?

Are you a prisoner, pent up in a dark dungeon for some petty offense and condemned by those who seek to reform man by corrupting him?

Are you a young woman on whom God has bestowed beauty, but who has fallen prey to the base lust of the rich, who deceived you and bought your body but not your heart, and abandoned you to misery and distress?

If you are one of these, you are a martyr to man's law. You are wretched, and your wretchedness is the fruit of the iniquity of the strong and the injustice of the tyrant, the brutality of the rich, and the selfishness of the lewd and covetous.

Comfort ye, my beloved weak ones, for there is a Great Power behind and beyond this world of Matter, a Power that is all Justice, Mercy, Pity and Love.

You are like a flower that grows in the shade; the gentle breeze comes and bears your seed into the sunlight, where you will live again in beauty.

You are like the bare tree bowed with winter's snow; Spring shall come and spread her garments of green over you; and Truth shall rend the veil of tears that hide your laughter. I take you unto me, my afflicted brothers, I love you, and I condemn your Oppressors.

Letter to the Editor

Editor:

The end of the high school semester is near and so your column, What It Is And What It Isn't will end. I, as one of your avid readers, must say that the column was simply great! Every week I just waited for the Seaside Post to come out so I could read the column.

The articles were very inspirational and gave me a warm feeling after I read it. I wish you could keep up the good work but, alas, time must go on.

Don Bateman
Seaside High School Student

Editor: I am a blood brother. I mean that literally. I donate blood to the American Red Cross Blood bank, to be given to any one who can use it and needs it. There is no question in the mind of the donor about who is going to be the recipient of his blood - white, colored, rich, poor, christian or heathen. It makes no difference. Blood is red, blood is life. When you need it you don't ask who gave it, what color was the donor, what race, what religion.

Who are the donors? If you go from one blood drawing location to another in this area you will see the majority of the faces are familiar. At a blood drawing last year at the Seaside Fire Department only forty five pints were donated. It took about twenty Red Cross workers, paid and volunteer, to perform that chore. They could have drawn two hundred pints. Where were the recipients? I saw no Cadillacs parked. Do the rich feel secure in the knowledge that they can pay for the blood they use? Suppose there is none in the bank? Where were all the so-called minority groups? I counted five. That supply needle fits their veins too. No discrimination there. They are demanding equal rights in today's society. That's one area that's wide open. The line forms on the right, citizen.

Where were all the people who are on the welfare rolls? If they can trouble themselves to receive financial aid, why not the minor effort of a small repayment to society in the form of a blood donation every two months. Where were all the unemployed? They surely cannot use the excuse that they're working and can't get there. Where were all the beatniks? The only long hair I saw was on women. How about the Peace-nicks? Giving blood avails them of the opportunity to practice what they preach. Where were all the protesters? They could start a protest against the apathy of the entire Peninsula toward giving blood. Where were the animal conservationists? They deplore the needless shedding of animal blood. Human blood is urgently needed at all times. They too can bleed for humanity. The Red Cross blood bank will again be at the Seaside Fire Department on the 18th of February 1971. Can you be there and help save a life. Leo Wojcikowski

Editor: As you well know, the backbone of our organization consists of civic minded and unselfish people such as yourself that give so generously of their time and efforts to aid in this worthy cause. Without your help, and that of other fine people like you, the campaign would never have gotten off the ground.

I hope that you experience the same feeling of pride and accomplishment that I do in knowing that you have been a vital contributor to the success of the 1971 March of Dimes campaign.

Thank you very much for your continued support of the March of Dimes.
Gratefully,

Your Social Security

By: Raymond MacDonald
Q. I will not finish my college work until I'm 23. Can an exception be made to permit me to receive student benefits until then under Social Security?

A. Sorry, but no exceptions can be made to the age 22 cutoff for student benefits. Your benefits are intended to replace some of the support you lost because of your parents' death, retirement, or disability. The benefits are intended to be paid as long as it is reasonable to assume that you would be supported by your family. The law sets age 22 as the upper limit. However, there are a number of other public programs and some private ones that offer financial assistance to college students. You may want to write to the Office of Education, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20202, about this.

Grooving Around the Peninsula with Betty Mann

Hi there fellow Peninsulans:

Exciting local happenings include the Monterey Peninsula Cotillion League Debutante Ball, which will be held this Saturday, February 13.

Eleven debutantes will make their bows to an audience of 650 persons. The gala affair will be held in the Grande Ballroom of the Del Monte Hyatt House in Monterey. A no-host cocktail hour, starting at 7:30 p.m., will precede the Cotillion. The affair is strictly invitational and formal. (All invited guests are urged to arrive at the ball before 9 p.m.) All doors to the Grande Ballroom will be closed at 9 o'clock. Music for the ball will feature the 87th Off-Broadway Band.

Another exciting event coming to the Peninsula is the Count Basie Concert-Dance. On Monday, February 15, the Count will appear with his orchestra and vocalist, Mary Stallings, at the Monterey Peninsula College Gym from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Congratulations to Mrs. Irene Simmons of Seaside (mother of Rev. H.H. Lusk) on her election as secretary to the California State Council for Senior Citizens. "Mother" Simmons, as she is known, along with 39 other senior citizens from Monterey County, attended the meeting January 26 in Sacramento for the purpose of electing new officers for the 1971-72 year. I'll say "right on!" Mother Simmons to you and all of your fellow senior citizens. Monterey County is proud of you.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hutchins hosted a small group of friends to an impromptu cocktail party in their lovely hilltop home in Del Rey Oaks. The gathering of friends assembled to meet and welcome Mr. Charles Lampkin of Hollywood, who is movie and television star. Mr. Lampkin just recently was seen on the television screen in episodes of The Partridge Family, Marcus Welby M.D., Julia and The Bill Cosby Show. He can be seen on the movie screen in The Great White Hope, which is playing at the Carmel Valley Cinema.

This charming and debonair gentleman will be back on the Peninsula for the Cotillion League Ball and will appear and speak at some of the local public schools for Negro History Week. Welcome, Charles!

Miss Erika (Mickey) Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sweet of Seaside, hosted Errollyn, Mary Ellen, Sherry and Carol Pryor to a surprise welcome home party. The Pryor girls recently returned from Brussels, Belgium, where they were stationed with their father and mother, Sfc. and Mrs. Frank Raymond (Ophelia Pryor). Over 40 young guests attended this lively affair. The guest of honor from Los Angeles was Yolanda Rudolph Eldridge, daughter of Mrs. Wilma Rudolph Eldridge, who, a few years back, won three gold medals in the Olympic Games. Each guest signed a guest book that was presented after the party to the Pryor girls as a re-introduction to the community and to new friends.

Also on the youth circuit, Miss Kathy Ruffin, daughter of (Ret) Sgt. Joe Ruffin of Seaside, is now a WAF stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, where she is taking basic training. After basic, Kathy will then take nurses' training under the Air Force program and will serve as an R.N. She attended Seaside public schools before entering the service. Right on! Kathy, we are proud of you.

On February 11, (today) at 1:30 p.m. in the Board of Supervisor's chambers in Salinas there will be a meeting to institute the Seaside-Monterey Affirmative Action Plan.

At this meeting there will be representatives of labor, management, and the minority community. If our community is to have a part in this program you, as a member of the community, must attend.

The Seaside Plan will be patterned after the attached plan. It is a good plan and will increase the opportunities for our young people to secure employment in the building and construction industry.

We need you! 1:30 p.m., Thursday, February 11.

Imaginative Cooking Class

The Young Women's Christian Association of the Monterey Peninsula has announced that Mrs. Richard Brinton will conduct "Imaginative Cookery" on Tuesday evenings, 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center on Lighthouse and Dickman Avenues, Monterey.

"Imaginative Cookery" is a newly formed class designed to inspire the creative talent and cooking abilities within the individual.

Women of all ages are cordially invited to attend and the fee is minimal to encourage everyone who is interested to come. There is a $2.00 fee plus $5.00 membership fee for those not already members of YWCA.

Mrs. Brinton, a resident of Carmel, is an experienced homemaker and teacher who is contributing her efforts toward making the class exciting and interesting for all. She has three small children and is active in many organizations on the Peninsula. She feels there should be a class where all women may improve their cooking skills, thus gaining satisfaction from cooking as a creative art. She stresses simplicity is the secret for today's busy housewife.

The six week class will consist of demonstrations on pies, meat dishes, yeast cookery, cakes and frostings, Baked Alaska, and many other interesting ideas.

Scholarship Aid Black Students

The eight National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro Students seeks to honor and encourage outstanding academic attainment.

A black student enters the Achievement Program by taking the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST).

Candidates who attain high standing in the competition will find their opportunities for a college education greatly increased. Lists of over 8,000 high-scoring participants in the Achievement Program will be made available to colleges so that they can provide these students with information about college admission and financial assistance.

About 1,500 of the highest scoring Achievement Program participants - the Achievement Semifinalists - will compete for approximately 325 scholarships for college. These scholarships will be awarded through the Achievement Program to black students, presently juniors, who plan to enter college in 1972.

About 225 scholarships will be National Achievement $1000 Scholarships financed by the Achievement Program and sponsors. Each award is a one-time nonrenewal scholarship of $1000 payable to the winner when he enrolls in college.

An estimated 100 winners will be offered four-year sponsored Achievement Scholarship. Each of these renewable awards is worth from $250 to $1500 per year, depending on individual need, for up to four years of college.

Black students who are eligible and who wish to participate in the 1971-72 Achievement Scholarship competition must take the NMQST this month. They must also plan to complete high school and enter college in 1972. Participants in the Achievement program simultaneously enter the Merit Program.

Seaside High School will offer the NMQST February 13, the final day of Negro History Week. Students will have arranged with the principal, James Solberg, Ph.D., or their school counselor to take the test.

Goodwill Needs More Merchandise

The job training and rehabilitation programs of Goodwill Industries have an urgent and immediate need for repairable or useable furniture, according to Mrs. Margie Gomes, manager of the Goodwill Retail Store at 729 Broadway.

Handicapped men and women learn skill and earn wages reconditioning and processing donated articles in a sheltered workshop in Santa Cruz.

The merchandise is then placed in Goodwill's Seaside store and five others in three counties. Sales in these thrift shops underwrite the training and rehabilitation program costs. Some of the store personnel also are handicapped.

Mrs. Gomes said furniture is a mainstay in the training and sales operations. Particularly needed right now are dressers and chest of drawers, tables, chairs, desks, book cases and television sets.

Free truck pick-up of donations can be arranged by contacting the store.

Black Star To Appear at Local School

Charles Lampkin, professor of ethnic music at the University of Santa Clara, where he is artist-in-residence, will be at Highland Schools in Seaside during observance of the 45th annual Negro History Week, which ends February 13. His performance is for the children, but parents and public are welcome as space in the school multi-use rooms permits.

All kindergarten, grades 1-6 children at Highland School (Sonoma at Yosemite) will be able to see Lampkin today Thursday, at 1 p.m. Lampkin has appeared in several memorable motion pictures including "Watermelon Man," with Godfrey Cambridge, "Hello, Dolly!" with Barbra Streisand, Walter Matthau, and Louis Armstrong and "The Great White Hope."

Recently he was guest star for television's "Barefoot in the Park" and "Panther in a Cage," segment of "The Bold Ones."

He has been on "The Bill Cosby Show," "The most Deadly Game," "The Interns, And "Family Affair."

Everybody Needs Prayer

Today's need of the prayer which covers every human need will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science church. On the Monterey Peninsula, Services will begin at 11 a.m.

Each section in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul" begins with a verse from the Lord's Prayer.

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following:

"Our Master taught his disciples one brief prayer, which we name after him the Lord's Prayer. Our Master said, 'After this manner therefore pray ye,' and then he gave that prayer which covers all human needs."

Federal Job Openings

A number of immediate vacancies for Federal Protective Officer are expected at Federal establishments in California. Most vacancies will be in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego.

In order to meet this need the San Francisco Area Office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission has issued an announcement for this position--Federal Protective Officer, FR-1-01.

Starting salaries for these positions will be $6202 and $6938 per year depending on the education or experience of the applicant.

Information and application forms may be secured at most large Post Office, Federal Job Information Centers and from the Personnel Offices of most large Federal installations or at the Federal Job Information Center at 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California 94102, telephone (415) 556-6667.

tions can be arranged by contacting the store.

Because Goodwill Industries is a non-profit organization, such contributions can be used as tax deductions. Mrs. Gomes said. Often, she added, contributing an item can save more on a tax bill than the owner might make in selling it himself.

King Plans to Honor Negro History Week Goodwill

Students at King Junior High School, 1713 Broadway, Seaside, will observe Negro History Week, which ends February 13, in a number of ways.

There will be a weeklong art exhibit of works by black artist James Golden, and two assemblies today built around the central theme.

The public is welcome as space is available.

Today (Thursday) is the big day. Because the multi-use room cannot accommodate the full student body of 719 at one time, half the students will attend the first assembly and the others will be assigned to the second assembly. Not every program item will be repeated, some will be for either first or second assembly.

Programs will include appearance of Charles Lampkin, motion picture and television personality and musician, music by the King band and Victory Temple choir, dance by "My Little Sisters," student group.

Readings will be by blacks of the area including Calvin Reeves, officer with the Monterey County Probation Department; Mrs. Sarah Ector, teacher at Covell School, Seaside and active in community affairs; Sonia Ruffin, Seaside High School dramatics student and Bedford Vaughn, counselor at Seaside High School.

Prizes to be awarded to winners of the various contests are donated by Seaside and Monterey merchants.

The Negro History Week events at King Junior High were arranged by Mrs. Helen Rucker, librarian, with William Martin, community-school leader. The principal is Kenneth Dunbar.

Seniors Get Discount From Goodwill

A new "Senior Citizens Discount" of 20 percent off regular prices has been announced by six Goodwill retail stores in San Cruz, Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties.

Any person 60 years or older is eligible for the discount, said John W. Liberator, Goodwill sales director. Proof of age - a driver's license, Medicare card or such may be requested by sales clerks.

The discount is with recognition that many senior citizens are living on small pensions and limited incomes, Mr. Liberator said. This is a major reason why so many of them already are Goodwill customers, he added.

Clothing, furniture, household and other articles sold in the Goodwill stores have been donated by the public. These are processed, and reconditioned when necessary, by handicapped persons. Sale of the merchandise supports Goodwill's rehabilitation and trade training programs for the handicapped.

Wester the tentmaker.

Although Omar the tentmaker could make a nice tent, he was no help if you wanted to take it somewhere. For that you had to see your local camel dealer.

There are other tentmakers now, thank Allah.

Every tent* Volkswagen makes comes with an attachment that will take you and the tent anywhere: a Volkswagen.

Giving you about 23 miles for a gallon of gas, the VW Campermobile is a lot cheaper to feed than a camel. And a great deal more comfortable.

It has a full-length double bed, a child's bed, a child's hammock and a cot. As well as closets, curtains, and a reading lamp.

It even boasts a kitchenette. Complete with a cupboard, a dining table, an icebox and a sink.

As Omar used to say . . . a man's home is his tent.

Highway Department Tops Nation

California's State Division of Highways has won two first places, a second place and two third places in the Federal Department of Transportation's third annual Highway Beautification awards competition, State Public Works Director James A. Moe announced recently.

The State's winners in the nine competitive categories open for Departments of Highways included a first place for landscape treatment along roadsides and interchanges for the section of Route 99 through Bidwell Park in Chico; a first place award for outstanding multiple use of highway right of way for the division's maintenance station constructed beneath the Interstate Routes 10 and 405 freeways in West Los Angeles and second place in the safety roadside rest category for the Hunter Hill rest stop on Interstate 80 just west of Vallejo.

One of the State's two third place awards came in the category of Outstanding Bridge, Overpass, Tunnel Approach, or Other Highway Structural Feature for the Potrero Hill Wall on Interstate 280 in San Francisco. The massive concrete retaining wall along a low-level section of the freeway features an esthetically interesting design incorporating "hanging basket" type planter boxes.

The other third place was in the category of Outstanding Example of Preservation of Wildlife or Natural Area for a hillside viaduct on State Route 18 in San Bernardino County between the City of San Bernardino and the Crestline interchange. At this location, the Division constructed a cantilevered type viaduct in order to eliminate the necessity for deep cuts and hillside scars.

Moe noted that the four-land divided Route 99 freeway through Chico is constructed on viaducts carrying traffic through a section of the 2,400-acre Bidwell Park.

Shrubs and trees included in a landscaping project blend with the park section of freeway. Over 900 pine, sycamore and Chinese pistache were planted.

In Los Angeles, the attractive and utilitarian Westdale Maintenance station is built under the freeway interchange of Interstate Routes 10 and 405 and uses highway right of way. "Using right of way in this manner," Moe states, "prevents our having to purchase other properties and take it off the local tax rolls."

The nationwide third annual contest sponsored by the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration demonstrates the compatibility of highways and the environment, Moe said.

It was initiated to recognize the efforts made by public and quasi-public bodies, civic and professional organizations and private industry to improve the environment adjacent to highways.

The competition attracted 723 entries from 123 contestants in 46 states who submitted photographs illustrating the beneficial impact highways can have on the areas through which they pass.

California was the only state to win more than one first place award in the annual competition, Moe noted.

Federal Highway Administrator F.C. Turner said the entries in the contest make it apparent that highways can and do play a role in enhancing the environment.

"The entries prove that consideration is being given by highway builders to the esthetic and social impact roads have on the areas traversed," Turner said.

Among the 10 national judges was one Californian, Mrs. Ralph A. Reynolds of San Francisco who is President of the California Roadside Council.

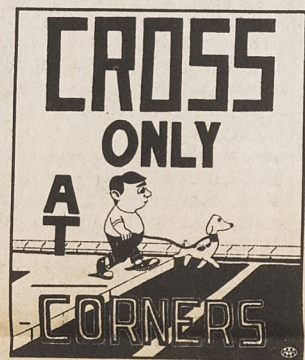

Use Corners For Crossing

A short walk to the corner may save your life.

This may be hard to believe, but statistics show that the majority of pedestrian accidents occur when a person is crossing at a place other than at an intersection.

There are many reasons why it is safer to cross at intersections rather than between them, says the California State Automobile Association.

Many safety specialists have kept the pedestrian in mind throughout their work. Among them are traffic engineers who have designed modern intersections with pedestrian aids such as ELECTED - James Wester, co-owner of Wester Volkswagen at 4 Geary Plaza, has been elected to two-year term on Volkswagen Dealer Advisory Council. Eight-man council meets with management of Reynold C. Johnson, Co., northern California, northern Nevada and Utah VW distributor and Volkswagen of America, Inc., importer, to discuss issues and make recommendations affecting VW products and operation. Wester, and his brother Don, have operated Monterey peninsula's authorized Volkswagen dealership since 1960. Last year they opened first dealership in new Peninsula Auto Center in Seaside and also started Wester Porsche Audi in Monterey. Wester is graduate of Northwestern University. He resided in Carmel with his wife Sandy and their two children.

WALK and DON'T WALK signs, traffic signals, diagonal-walk plans, STOP signs, pedestrian-actuated signals and crosswalk lines.

The CSAA says that, even without special pedestrian and traffic controls, corners are safer places to cross than between intersections. Drivers often slow down in anticipation of stopping at intersections. Also, research has shown that people can perceive an expected object from twice as far away as they can an unexpected one. So why not cross where motorists are looking for you?

Next time you want to cross the street, consider the life-saving advantages of crossing at the corner, urges the motoring organization.

As a part of AAA's nationwide school traffic safety education program, a poster illustrating "Cross Only At Corners" is being distributed to schools across the United States.
